Call on Mother's God

A brilliant student of wealthy parents turned his back on his early Christian training. One day he was so dissatisfied with himself that he remarked to his mother, "I am tired of it all. I am going to leave and will not bother you anymore." She followed him to the door and pled with him and wept over him. Then she gave him her final word, "My boy, when you come to the darkest hour of all, and everything seems lost, if you will honestly call on your mother's God, He will not fail you."

Out into the darkness he went. His sin drove him downward until he could endure it no longer. In a hotel room, 425 miles from home, he decided to commit suicide. He said to himself, "I'll bring to an end this farce called 'human life.'" Just then, there flashed across his memory the last words of his dear mother before he left home years before. A power gripped him and brought him to his knees praying, "O God of my mother, if there is such a Being, I want light and if You will give it, no matter how, I will follow it."

God shone into his darkened mind, broke down his stubborn will, and without hesitation he took Christ as His Savior. He returned to his home to tell his mother, but to his amazement, he saw her walking down the path to meet him with smiling face and tears. She exclaimed, "O my son, I know why you are back home. You have found the Lord, for He has told me!"

This young man became the well-known evangelist R.A. Torrey, who was used of God to win many souls to Christ in many lands.
