Who Is He?

“What manner of man is this?” cried the astonished disciples as Jesus commanded the raging winds and rolling waves of Lake Galilee to be still (Mark 4:41).

“What manner of man is this?” He is the Son of God, the Son of David, the Son of Man, and the Son of Mary.

“What manner of man is this?” He was Eden’s tree of life, Abel’s acceptable sacrifice, and Noah’s ark of salvation in the Flood. He was Abraham’s ram offered in the place of Isaac and Israel’s Passover lamb, providing shelter from the death angel in Egypt. He was Moses’ rod with which he divided the waters.

He was the tabernacle in the wilderness, the veil in that tabernacle, and the offering upon the altar to bring remission for sin.

He was Joshua’s captain of the armies of the Lord, Rahab’s scarlet cord in the window, Gideon’s sword, and David’s sling with which he brought Goliath to his death and routed the army of Philistines.

He was Daniel’s lion tamer in the den of lions and the three Hebrew children’s fire extinguisher—the fourth man in the furnace of fire.

He was Isaiah’s “Wonderful, Counselor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace” (Isaiah 9:6).

He was Jeremiah’s lodge for wayfar- ing men lost in the wilderness (Jer. 9:2). He was Ezekiel’s breath of God breathing life into the dead and dying (Ezek. 37:9).

He was Zechariah’s fountain for cleansing opened in the house of David (Zech. 13:1). —Paul E. Lowenberg in the Pentecostal Evangel
